The Discress in Ireland -The Foreign Relations of England. London, February 14 .- Mr. Shaw Lefevre, liberal, member of the house of commons for Reading, will in committee move as an amendment to the government, a bill for the relief of the distress in Ireland, to leave out the restriction of two months as the term of which out-door relief may be given. He which out-door relief may be given. He will also move to insert in the bill a new clause to give tenants ejected during the present year for non-payment, the right to claim compensation for the disturbance of tenure under the provisions of Gladstone's land act of 1870.

Our New Trenty With France

Special dispatch to The Constitution.

Lognon, February 14.—The substance of the trenty between the United States and France, signed at Washington on the 15th of January for the settlement of the claims of French citizens resulting from the war of secession, has been published. The treaty provides that a commission of three members, one to be appointed by France, one by the United States and the third by the emperor of Brazil, shall meet six months after an exchange of the ratifications, to arbitrate definitely on the claims of French subjects and on any counterclaims of American citizens who sustained losses under like circumstances. The treaty claims of American citizens who sustained losses under like circumstances. The treaty applies solely to the demand for indemnity originating from acts of injury committed with the cognizance of federal authorities, the United States government having absolutely refused to accept the responsibility for the acts of the confederates, or for any less arising from the loss or emancipation of slaves.

Barnett, who publicly testifies to the good character of Summons. Captain W. L. Brown, who lives in Tilton is the man who failed to appear at the trial, according to "Tilton." I asked Captain Brown myself, last fall, if there was anything against the private character of Mr. Simmons—stating to him his (Simmons's) request that I should recommend him for the supervisor's place. He told me he was a man of unimpeachable character, and I have in my possession a letter from Captain Brown, received to-day, in which he says, "T. J. Simmons stands to-day as fair in this district as does Bishop Pierce."

Judge Barnett, the recording steward, is the man whe signed the following certificate:

RESACA, GA.. January 29, 183.—We, the undersigned, citizens of Resaca and vicinity, certify that we have been personally sequaleted with the Rev. T. J. ment and reform. He reminded the republican party that they had engrafted many of the existing laws on appropriation bills when they were in the majority, and he wanted to know why they were not taking the opposite track when they were out of power. The vote was taken on Garfield's amendment amidst much interest, and it was defeated by only two votes, the greenbackers nearly all voting with the republic n', and Whithorne, Mills, Speer and Felton of Georgia, all democrats, also voting with them. Then General Warner offered a substitute for Speer's proposition, proposing that it coming from Rev. Mr. Myrick. The same charge was presented to the census committee of the senate last Friday. General Gordon presented the charge and stated that the charce was founded upon a statement contained in a letter which he had received. The author of this slanderous charge is known in this city, and I will give his name to the people of the Seventh district at the proper time.

This was a deep laid plot, in connection with the letters abstracted from the interior office. The filthy statement which appeared in the Cartersville Express was quickly followed by the insidious falsehood prepared by "Titon." The "Tilton" article was expected to do its work in Washington before rebuttal testimony could be gathered up Now I have all proof to show the malignant character of all these attacks. "Corrupt traitors" was a mild term to apply to these traducers and presenters with reserved. Speer's proposition, proposing that it should be in order to change existing laws so as to cut down appropriations. This was carried by a large majority, many democrats—such as Randail, 4 tkins and McMahon—voting for it to defeat Speer's proposition which was not so liberal. Gen. Warner's proposition being carried Speer's joint of proposition being carried, Speer's is out of the road, but two more votes must be taken before the Warner proposition will be agreed to. The impression is that it will be de-feated. The old rule is the jewel in the would have liked it better. On all sides the question has been aided, "What will he do about it?" A republican member of congress, who is said to possess the confidence of the fraudulent administration, is credited with having said yesterday that Mr. Hayes was exceedingly indignant when he heard that the senate had dared to dispute his authority, and attempt to dictate what manner of men should be Ohio's census supervisors. Hayes, it is said, threatened to send the rejected list back to the senate and insist on its confirmation. Should he pursue such a course it is not improbable that the senate would resent the act as an insult and Mr. Hayes would have his trouble for his pains. Democratic senators, so far as can be ascertained, will not think of reversing Wednesday's proceedings. Many of the stalwart republicans express little sympathy for Hayes in the dileuma in which he finds himself, while members of both parties await with interest his next move. began to be the public talk of the commu-nity. The certificate of Captain Brown stated that he never saw anything in me that the laws of God or man would condemn.

These parties were 1.0: satisfied because Captain Brown would not attend in person. Green and Jackson said they would put Brown where he would be forced to tell the truth. The superior court of Whitfield county was then in session and Brown was forced before the grand jury, and he then Senator Eaton executed a very skilful fank movement upon Senator Gordon last week, the success of which created considerable quiet amusement among democratic senators. Early in the session Senator Eston introduced a resolution which attracted no particular attention at the time, and had long since been forgotten, calling for the president for information and correspondence in relation to the inter-oceanic canal matters. This resolution, which has been sleeping upon the table, was to day called up, and without comment or opposition, passed. When the papers are read it will be in order for Senator Eaton, who is chairman of the foreign relations committee. The nature of the questions involved in the inter-oceanic canal matter are such that they can with as much proprietly be sent to the foreign relations committee as to that on commerce, of which Senator Gordon is chairman, or to a special committee.

The debate in the house on the rules took on Thurstay, as was expected, a political

PATCHING A PEACE.

Bill Arp to the Constitution

The railroad boom seems to have con back to you of its own accord and it is good deal bigger than it was before. In fact it is the biggest thing I ever heard of for it has swallowed up all the roads and is going to make oceans of money for the stockholders. It looks like some folks believe it for I see the stock in these consolidated lines is going up by the jump. But great expec-tations are hardly ever realized. If these roads are going to make more money by the combination they will have to put up freights to do it They can't be run any cheaper than they were before, and I reckon our roads would have gotten as much to carry to the seaboard without the combination as with it. Therefore I don't see very clearly how this big thing is to benefit the people. What we want is competition-strong competition-for that keeps down the rates and prevents monopoly, and makes the kings and all the officers polite and amiable. Men are just human, you know, and when they get power and money and large patronage they become dictatorial and conceited in spite of themselves. I don't believe in such powerful monopo lies as Tom Scott's, and Garrett's, and Van derbilt's, and Jay Gould and the Western Union telegraph company. They can buy up legislatures and lawyers and judges, and juries, and a common man don't stand any chance at all when he runs up against them. May be Captain Elliott would dare to sue one of em if they put him off the train, but I don't know anybody else that would. The captain would sue anything that trod on his toes. He'd sue General Grant or the supergraf Physics or the Species Grant or the emperor of Russia, or the Suez canal, or the Stone mountain as quick as he'd sue anybody, and the bigger the game the better he likes it. He never gets tired.

he'd sue anybody, and the bigger the game the better he likes it. He never gets tired. Fourteen years ago he begun on a man in Rome, and followed him to Cherokee county, Alaba a and from there to Mobile, and he is following him yet.

But still I am glad Mr. Newcomb has managed to satisfy you and all our railroad people in Georgia, and I am not going to interfere with any of his arrangements, for I do like to see our folks at peace with one another. Peace is a blessed thing and I was ruminating on that when I read that General Gordon and Mr. Stephens and all of our boys at Washington had harmonized. I like to see that—brethren dwelling together in unity and all working harmoniously for the good of our state. The only question is whether its shore enough peace or a sort of a flag of truce business and a renewal of hostilities at some future day. General Gordon wants peace I know, for he is a brave and noble man—warm hearted, generous and forgiving, but to my opinion he will not get peace, except on paper. He has committed the uppardonable sin—gotten in the way of those who thought they were better men. His conduct and heroism in the late war was in ur pleasant contrast. Envy marked him for its arrows, and the envious will continue to shoot at him. Beloved at slanders to his hurt. "An eagle soaring in the air, Was by a mousing owl hawked at and killed." he lives the people of Georgia will delight to do him honor. He may not be grand like Webster, or eloquent like Clay, or pro-found like Calhoun, but a truer, purer pa-triot has not yet been born, and we need patriots more than politicians. The prospect is bright, however, that the general will out-live his enemies, and then perhaps we will have peace.

I'm bucking up to Speer now—I'm betting on him. If he has got the right spunk in him he will whip out Sherman, and that will do me good for a month. I don't care anything about his little brass-band bill—the fact is, I dident see any harm in a little music on Sundays, for it has a cheering effect; and the boys are called out on dress parade to see if they have cleaned up all right and got on a clean shirt and their best music on sundays, for it has a cheering effect; and the boys are called out on dress parade to see if they have cleaned up all right and got on a clean shirt and their best clothes, and the music is a very little sin if any, and I thought that it looked puritanical to be pressing such a bill; but still friend Speerhad a right to put in the bill, and talk up for his peculiar contraband views, and Mr. Sherman insults his masters when he threatens to move the troops from Atlanta. Let him move em if he wants to. If the bill passes I reckon he cant move em to a place where the bill wont reach em. Speer dont represent that district nohow and what does Mr. Sherman want to spite Atlanta for. I've got no use for these pompous military men. They are too bigoty. They are too uppity. They have had their own way so long they have no respect for the restraints of the law. I dont want one of em for president. I'm willing to take Judge Lochrane, but I wont take General Grant if I can help it. I wish they would put it in the constitution that no man who had been educated at West Point and had command of troops for ten years should be eligible for president. Ten years of that business swells up a man until he thinks he is running an unlimited monarchy on a limited scale, and if he was made president he would make himself a king if he wanted to, for he would have the army to back him. General Jackson put a judge in jail, and he cut up powerfully about the United States bank, and most people thought it was smart but it wasent. It wasent respectful to the civil law, and the civil law is our only salvation. General Toombs says so, and he knows. I would like to hear him talk about Sherman threatening to remove the troops from Atlanta. I rerkon there never was a man who had

Toombs says so, and he knows. I would like to hear him talk about Sherman threatening to remove the troops from Atlanta. I rerkon there never was a man who had greater respect for civil law and greater contempt for military law than Toombs. His views on these questions kept him in hot-water all the time he was in the army. He dident want to obey an order until the commanding general explained the reason of it and if the reason dident satisfy him he wouldn't obey it at all. General Lee said that the officers must go up by promotion and Toombs said his should go up by election—that the boys might make a captain out of a high private if they wanted to, and so they got at logger-heads, but every time Toombs's boys got ready to elect an order would come to "march," and they never stopped anywhere long enough to hold an election. General Johnson sent him an order at Meadow bridge for his brigade wagons to haul rations, but Toombs said his quartermaster shouldent give up his wagons until he got back his receipt, and that was in Richmond. I'm willing to risk Toombs for president. He would make a good one, and uphold the law and be a terror to thieves and lobby men. UNIONTOWN, ALA., February 13.—Last night at 11 o'clock a fire broke out in the rear of Peter Norton's building, on Water street, and in one hour the entire block was laid in ashes. The buildings were owned by Norton, Mrs. Tisdale, Bush, Lovingood, Planters' and Merchants' insurance company, Somerville, Hirsh, Nordlinger and Brashwell. Some of the buildings are not insured and some partially covered. Stocks insured in the Home, of New York; Liverpool, London and Globe; North America, of Columbus, Mississippi, and several New York companies, covering about thirty-five thousand dollars. The loss is estimated at $60,000. By most stupendous efforts the town was saved from total destruction. Had the block on the opposite side of the street taken fire, which at one time seemed inevitable, we would doubtless have been called upon to report the destruction of every business house in our prosperous town, besides a number of its finest residences.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., February 14.—
George Jeffries, of this place, has just passed through one of the strangest experiences known to medical science. A few weeks ago he was taken violently ill, and, while vomiting, felt something large rise up in his throat. Thrusting his fingers in his mouth he seized the object and drew it out. It proved to be a hydstid. The animal, if it may be so called, was about five and three-quarter inches in length, of a milky white color and showed considerable activity when placed in a pan of water. A council of the physicians of this village was called, and they pronounced upon the case. They had reason to believe, from the sensations that the sick man experienced, that there were

They had reason to betieve, from the sensations that the sick man experienced, that there were other hydatids in his stomach, and, in order to satisfy their currosity, they gave the patient some powerful medicines, and shortly after administered a strong emetic. Four more of the creatures were vomited up. Mr. Jeffries then felt better for several days, when he was again taken sick, and subsequently three more were gotten rid of. He now thinks that his stomach is free from these unwelcome guests.

Richmond, Va., February 14.—The senate committee for courts of justice, to whom was referred a bill, recently infroduced, exempting John Poindexter, who is under a sentence of two years in the state prison for killing C. C. Curtis, from wearing the convict's gard whifts terrying out his sentence, was to-day reported, with an amendment, which, in substance, provides that Poindexter shall be accorded the desired privilege when not at work in the prison. It is his expectation to be assigned to that institution, hence the announcement of the committee. LOUISVILLE, February 14.—This afternoon it became current that Dave McClure, clerk of the Louisville and Cincinuati steamer Gen. Lytle, was a defaulter to a large amount. A reporter found the steamer at the wharf and asked Captain Castor, superintendent at this end of the line, what truth there was in the rumor. He replied that it was true that McClure has been under a cloud for some time, but there is no doubt that he is a defaulter. He has been clerk of the steamer for four years. In reply to a request for the amount of shortsee, Captain Carter said that it has not yet been developed fully. An examination of the accounts is in progress, and no accurate figures can be given. The amount is considerable.

The St. Louis Republican says:

Last evening the Grand opera house was filled to overflowing in attendance upon the first production in this city of Gonnod's "Romeo and Juliet" by Emma Abbott and her English opera company. The great interest manifested in this opera srose from several reasons. The story and situation are well known from Shakspeare's drama; Gounod, a great master, is the composer of the story and distance of the committed of the common of th dicated what their Juliet and Romeo scenarium ust orcessarily be, and the great audience seembled in the glow of this expectancy. It may as well be said here that nobody was disappointed in the expectation, and every body was abundantly satisfied with "Romeo and Juliet" set to music. The recent reputation of Emma Abbot as Juliet was fully sustained by her performance of last night. She proved her right and title to the lyric role of Juliet, and we know of no opera singer who could successfully dispute the part with her. Dramatically it is exactly in her way, and the score could not have been better adapted to her vocal resources and florid style if it had been written expressly for her.

John and Thomas Burton were cousins. Thomas married a rosy cheeked girl that John had loved, and she bore him two children. John found another bride, who borehim four children before she died. Then Thomas disappeared, and sent home reports that he was dead, which was believed. John married Thomas's wife, and they lived very happily together, and had a child.

A month ago she received a letter from her first husband, insisting that she join him and go to Canada, where he had been. They he appeared in the village, to the surprise of all the village, and with only slightly improved fortunes. Mrs Burton discussed the strange situation with her new husband. He wrote at once to his cousin, and to Mrs. Burton's friends explaining the cruelty it would be to him if a separetion should be insisted upon. Many letters passed between the parties. The arguments that particularly moved the new husband came from her relatives, who insisted that she should return out of re-tries and the carriers were laden with the ca arguments that particularly moved the new husband came from her relatives, who insisted that she should return, out of regard to her reputation.

"Is your cousin a good man? Will he care for her well?" John Burton was asked yesterday. "Oh, yes, I think he will," was the reply. "If I had thought he wouldn't, I'd have stood out against her return a good deal longer than I did. I would do anything rather than see the least harm come to her. Through the whole matter, nobody could point to the least thing against her conduct. She has tried only to do what was right, and that is what I have tried to do."

Last Monday it was decided by them that she should go back to her first husband. That night John and she packed her things and the next morning she bade a farewell and set out on her journey with her baby in her arms. She is yet a young woman. Thomas Burton is thurty-three years old.

Congressman Speer of Georgia has introduced a lil providing that the bands of the army shall at play on Sunday, and General Sherman is so dignant that he threatens to remove the troops on the garrison at Atlanta. We suppose, acredingly, that the troops at Atlanta are stationed here for the sole purpose of having music on anday. There is no logical way of supporting eneral -herman's position except through that lew. And the general is apparently so mad such as wants to heat Congressman Speer into a -The late Judge Benjamin R. Curtis is country whom the general of the army is bound to respect. Recently Representative Speer, of Georgia introduced in the lower house of congress a bill to prohibit the bands of the army from playing on Sunday. Mr. Speer is not only a religious man, but he is one of those choice spirits who lay awake of nights in dyspeptic efforts to hit upon some ingenious plan by which the government can be induced to save a dollar or two a year by the practice of Poor Richard's school of economy. Mr. Speer discovered years ago that the army bands were offending Delty by the performance of purely secular music on Sunday, and he estimated that the cost to the government in the wear and tear of instruments on that day and the destruction of drum-heads amounted to over $100 per annum. In order to save this expense, and at the same time establish the religious credit of our country. Mr. Speer offered his bill providing for the putting down of the horns of the military ungodly on Sunday. General sherman, who is an infidel and a man of sin, was very naturally incensed at this proposition to deprive the army of its Sunday music. He sat down and wrote a letter to Speer in which he swore that if the bill was passed he would immediately withdraw the troops in garrison at Atlanta so that the Georgia gentleman's constituency would be deprived of music and display on week days as well as on troops in garrison at Atlanta so that the Georgia gentleman's constituency would be deprived of music and display on week days as well as on Sund y. The garrison at Atlanta, with its swell band, is the biggest thing, in a social way, in Georgia, and as soon as the Atlanta people heard of Sherman's letter they gave Speer a piece of public sentiment which fairly knocked him out of his seat. Very naturally Speer is irritated by Sherman's method of expressing opposition to his measure and regards his conduct as an attempt unduly to influence legislation and to intimidate a representative in congress in the discharge of his public duties. He therefore proposes to rise to a personal explanation, and to call the general of the army to account for threatening to use his official influence to de'eat a measure pending in congress, and for attempting to intimidate members of the house. One of the rules of the war department requires that all officers of the army in addressing communications to congress or to the members thereof, in reference to any subject of legislation, shall forward them through the secretary of war. Mr. Speer claims that General Sherman is subjected to reprimand for violation of this regulation. This is not the first time that-herman has attempted to bulldoze members of congress, and it wouldn't be at all a bad thing for the great law-makers to notify him officially that his business in Washington is to draw salary, dance the German and preside at big dinners, and that lobbying for or against measures before congress is not one of his duties.

Pushing Prices in the Air.

The manufacturers of paper, like the manufac-urers of iron, saw the prospect of an increased emand, or at least of an increased capacity to han that of iron in the increased cost ials, the matter is not sufficient to acc ne difference. A large margin remutely speculative. The following to the price of paper to dealers the settlember, and now, shows the lease:

rint-paper, various grades...

It happens that both these articles are burdened with a heavy tariff, and it has naturally occurred to consumers to seek refuge from the extortion of the protected dealers in the congress which granted the protection and can withdraw it at will. It is easy to show when legislation can afford relief. When American steel rafis were $80 per ton, the English product was $52 50; and print-paper can be bought in C nada three cents cheaper than in the United States. But a duty of $28 a ton in one case and of 20 per cent ad valorem in the other shuts American consumers out of these cheaper case and of 20 per cent ad valorem in the other shuts American consumers out of these cheaper markets and protects the fortunate m nufacturers at the customers' expense. Bills are now pending in the house for the removal or reduction of the duty on both these articles—Mr. Fort, of Illinois, proposing to admit paper with a 5 per cent tax and place the chemicals used in its manufacture upon the free list. Both measures are likely to pass the house, and that for the relief of paper-consumers can hardly fall to become a law.

The Decision in the Cox Case.

The Decision in the Cox Case.

Albany Advertiser.

The Rome Courier administers an exceedingly well-timed but respectfully worded rebuke to Chief Justice Warner in allowing himself to indulge in certain fil-timed and spiteful expressions at the conclusions of his dissenting opinion in the Cox case. It is certainly a matter of regret that the learned chief justice, whose authority as a jurist stands so deservedly high, should have allowed his feelings to overcome his seuse of official, as well as personal dignity on this occasion. The supreme t-thunal of last resort in a state, all whose deliberations are supposed to be directed by a calm and unruffled intelligence, is a singularly inappropriate place for the inangence of feelings of private plague or resortment. Aside from the diminished authority and respect it detracts from the decision in the Aside from the diminished authority and respect it detracts from the decision in the particular instance, it leads to the painful suspicion not at all lessened by a very recent event in the history of the court, that the most perfect accord and harmony does not prevail among the individual members composing our supreme tribunal. The recent disreputable squabble among the Georgia delegation in congress over the appointment of Simmons is a sufficient stigma on the name of the good old common wealth, without having similar scenes re-enacted in her supreme judicial forum at home.

John Sherman's Chances.

New York Sun.

There used to be, at a time to which the memory of man barely reaches back in the state of Rhode Island—a state not so large as New York, and not large enough to hold Roscoe Conkling and William Sprague at the same time—a famous horse Jockey named John Sherman. He performed some remarkable feats. He once rode a horse twenty miles in an hour, a remarkable performance for those days.

We do not suppose the meeting in this city last evening to bring forward John Sherman as a candidate for president had reference to this same John Sherman, for the good and sufficient reason that he has been dead these many years.

And yet as a presidential candidate we do not know that he is any deader than the John Sherman of Mr. Hayes's cabinet. One is about as dead as the other.

Grant is the republican candidate. So Cameron and Conkling have decreed, and all movements for any other candidate will avail little; at least so far as we can judge from present appearances. New York Sun.

The pistol accidently fired off, the ball went through his hand and entered his little brother's head on the left side. In a few hours his right eye became very much swollen about a spoonful of his brain oozing ont of the shot hole. —Conyers Examiner: A very strange freak of a queer old gentleman by the name of Wm. Wilson, who died in Newton county last year, and willed his entire wealth to the colored people. We learn he was an old bachelor and possessed about $10,000 worth of property, all of which he willed to a few of his favorite colored people. Charity Hendrick, of Covington, being one of the favored of her color, received $150, which was invested in a homestead about four miles from this place by the administrator, Colonel A. B. Sims, in accordance with requirements of the will; the property to be her's during her life, and at her death to be divided among her children.

—Dalton Headlight: Last Tuesday evening the wife of Deputy Marshal Thrailkill, who had gone to the cemetery to care for a family grave, was shocked to see a skeleton hanging to a picket of the fence, the skull being placed over the picket. She reported to her husband, who reported to Alderman Kirkpatrick, who had a grave dug and the skeleton reburied. We are told that all of the bones were on the spot, most of them being held together by flesh or muscle ligaments. The top scalp had not entirely decayed, and short, apparently shingled hair still clung thereto. The skeleton indicated a fine shape, the teeth of pearly whiteness and beautiful in shape. For the uninitiated in anatomy who observed the remains, it was concluded that they were of a half grown man, or a full grown female. The bones were as yet unbleached. We think the mystery of the case calls for investigation.

Nothing is so conducive to a man's remaining a backelor as stopping for one night at the house of a married friend and being kept awake for five a six hours by the crying of a cross baby. All cross and crying babies need only Hop Bitters to make them well and smiling. Young man, remember this.—Traveller.

Nerve. It is a great thing to have what is called nerve, and nothing contributes more to the power of physical control thus named than Warner's Safe Nervine. It also relieves all kinds of pain, and cures headache and neuralgia.

THE COTTON MARKET.

OONSTITUTION OFFICE.
Atlanta, February 14, 1880.

New York—There has been very little change in the New York cotton market this week, and the fluctuations that have taken place daily were not of such a character as to create ary unusual excitement. Commend with the being only a few points lower. To-day futures closed steady, having declined slightly since yes-terday. Spots are steady and 3-16c higher than one week ago, Net receipts for the week ending last night amount to 113,128 bales, against 10,758 bales last week; net receipts for to-day 20,967 bales; exports 7,136 bales; stock 1,016,010 bales; sales to-day for future delivery 92,000 bales.

Liverpool closed dull with sales of 8,000 bales, of which 6,200 were American. This has been an unusually quiet week in our home market, and business at times was almost at a stand-still. Transactions in futures at the exchange were lighter than last week, but considering the quiet state of the New York market, business was very good. To-day an improvement was noticed, however, andla considerable business was picked up from various sections of the state. all offerings are readily taken at quoted prices. Receipts for the week ending last night amount to 1,441 bales, against 1,805 bales for last week. Receipts to-day 104 bales, of which 19 bales were received from wagons. Spots are firm at the fol-lowing quotations: Good middlings 123/c; middlings 121/4@121/je; low middlings 12c; good orlinary 11½c.

—Pope, the fashi mable Hatter, 2 White hall street.

223 feb15—dlt An Immense Concern.

In passing up Whitehall street on Saturday last, our attention was called to the addition which our leading dry goods merchant, John Keely, is in the act of making to his already large store. It has not been noised abroad, and yet, upon inspection, we find that mechanics have been at work upon it for three or four weeks past. It will be ready for annexation by the spring, and Sound So consists of a store as large as either of his two stores, thus giving him one of the largest store-houses in the south. We are glad of this, for Captain Keely's trade has grown so much that his old premises had ceased to accommodate it. He proposes to sell now especially good bargains. Read his notice of damaged bleached goods, and dress goods, marked down to merely nominal prices. His trade is bound to continue to increase so long as he finds "bargains" for the people, for Keely does not cater for the few; on the contrary, his trade extends everywhere. The prudent buyers of dry goods will always call and examine his stock before spending their money. nesday night at 7:30 All are welcome.
